

Back to School Madlib (1)

Today was the first day of school. I was a little nervous because I'd heard some adjective _____ rumours about our new ordinal number _____ grade subject _____ teacher.

Don't get me wrong—some kids thought that teacher's name _____ was adjective _____, but there were many who thought s/he was the superlative adjective _____ teacher they'd ever met.

Other kids from last year told us how teacher's name _____ would verb _____ to the front of the classroom then verb _____, adverb _____ to get the class's attention. If a student got out of line, s/he could count on teacher's name _____ to verb _____, then verb _____, adverb _____. But most of the time, teacher's name _____ was very unpredictable.

So you see, many of us were a little adjective _____ when we first entered the adjective _____ classroom.

The walls were covered in adjective _____, plural noun _____ and adjective _____, plural noun _____. The desks were arranged in a geometric shape _____. There were even plural noun _____ hanging from the ceiling! But what I noticed first was what my adjective _____ teacher was wearing. I don't know about the other kids, but I have never seen a teacher wearing pants that shade of colour _____ before. The vest s/he wore looked like something out of movie title _____, and on his/her head was a(n) adjective _____, noun _____ worn just like a hat.

Some of us weren't sure whether to laugh or to cry, but we were polite and s/he didn't seem to notice our surprise or suppressed present tense verb _____.

Whatever they say, one thing is for certain: this is going to be a(n) adjective _____ year!
