

Haunted House Madlib

It was a adjective and adjective night. Proper noun #1 and proper noun #2 were lost in the storm.

“Look!” said proper noun #2. “There’s a light on in that Adjective house on the hill.”

“But that place is haunted.” said Proper noun #1.

“Well, I’m going in. Don’t be such a scaredy animal.” said proper noun #2.

The two Adjective, plural noun up to the door. As they approached, the adjective, noun opened all by itself. The friends trembled in their plural noun. As they stepped inside, the door past tense verb shut behind them. They found themselves in a(n) adjective hallway.

It was dark, but as their eyes adjusted, they could see a verb light at the end of the hallway.

“Let’s go home.” said proper noun #1, as proper noun #2 pulled him/her further down the hall. At the end of the hallway there was a room to one side. A(n) noun sat behind a(n) adjective, noun. As they watched, he added a noun and a handful of plural noun to his adjective cauldron. He past tense verb the mixture and roared in great laughter. The friends were afraid to verb in case he might notice them there.

Suddenly the light went adjective and the friends heard a(n) adjective, noun.

Like a noun they were out of there, and they didn’t stop verb until they reached their plural noun.

Word List

_____	Plural noun
_____	Adjective
_____	Past tense verb
_____	Adjective
_____	Proper noun #1
_____	Proper noun #2
_____	Verb
_____	Adjective
_____	Adjective
_____	Proper noun #1
_____	Adjective
_____	Animal
_____	Noun
_____	Proper noun #2
_____	Noun
_____	Adjective
_____	Noun
_____	Plural noun
_____	Verb
_____	Adjective
_____	Plural noun
_____	Noun
_____	Past tense verb
_____	Adjective
_____	Verb
_____	Proper noun #1
_____	Proper noun #2
_____	Noun
_____	Adjective
_____	Noun
_____	Noun