

Captain Joe NAME OF A SONGBIRD 's Swashbuckling Adventure

*Listen ye mateys and soon ye shall hear
Of the harrowing legend that lubbers do fear
For this is the story of Captain Joe NAME OF A SONGBIRD!*

Part I: Amassing the Crew

Captain Joe was well known for his ADJECTIVE raids upon the Spanish Main, but he was especially well-known for his fondness for PLURAL NOUN, his weakness over PLURAL NOUN, his tendency to verb adverb and his fear of ADJECTIVE, PLURAL NOUN.

After his last ADJECTIVE raid, he lost his ADJECTIVE ship and needed to find a new one. He also needed a new crew—this time he would choose an ADJECTIVE group of ADJECTIVE, ADJECTIVE sailors.

He found his ADJECTIVE friend, PIRATE NAME #1, asleep in PLACE. PIRATE NAME #1 ADVERB agreed to join the crew. His first job was to help gather the crew. He amassed a(n) ADJECTIVE group of PLURAL NOUN (LIVING). There was PIRATE NAME #2, the OCCUPATIONAL NOUN, PIRATE NAME #3, the ADJECTIVE, OCCUPATIONAL NOUN, PIRATE NAME #4, the OCCUPATIONAL NOUN and several other ADJECTIVE, PLURAL NOUN (LIVING).

Captain Joe looked them over, PAST-TENSE VERB, and said, “Aye me lads, I kin see this be a right ADJECTIVE crew before me.” At that moment, PIRATE NAME #3 dropped his ADJECTIVE, NOUN on the ADJECTIVE deck and everyone watched it VERB, ADVERB into the ADJECTIVE sea. It was a(n) ADJECTIVE omen that followed thereafter.

Part II: Procuring a Ship and Setting Sail

Every ADJECTIVE pirate needs an ADJECTIVE, seaworthy ship. Captain Joe NAME OF A SONGBIRD and his ADJECTIVE crew looked high and low but there was none to be found. The harbour was as empty as a POSSESSIVE NOUN, NOUN. Eventually a(n) ADJECTIVE boat moored at the dock. A(n) ADJECTIVE sailor and NUMBER, ADJECTIVE crew disembarked. Immediately, Captain Joe NAME OF A SONGBIRD and his crew PAST-TENSE VERB the opportunity, PAST-TENSE VERB, ADVERB on board and set sail. To call the ADJECTIVE boat a ship was a stretch; really it was more of a(n) ADJECTIVE, NOUN, and it had a(n) ADJECTIVE tendency to VERB, ADVERB whenever a wave hit or a NOUN flew by.

For NUMBER days and NUMBER nights they rode the ADJECTIVE sea in their deluxe ADJECTIVE NOUN. On the ORDINAL night a(n) ADJECTIVE storm broke, and their ADJECTIVE craft was PAST-TENSE VERB about and washed up on the shore of a deserted island.

PIRATE NAME #3 PAST-TENSE VERB off the ship and PAST-TENSE VERB the ADJECTIVE ground. Immediately a(n) ADJECTIVE, NOUN (LIVING) appeared from nowhere. It PAST-TENSE VERB on PIRATE NAME #3, before spotting the others heading that way. “SOUND WORD” it PAST-TENSE VERB and PAST-TENSE VERB away, but not before it grabbed PIRATE NAME #2's ADJECTIVE NOUN. Now they might never be able to repair the ADJECTIVE, NOUN and leave the ADJECTIVE island!

They each tried to lure the ADJECTIVE creature back to retrieve the ADJECTIVE tool. PIRATE NAME #4 tried ACTIVE PRESENT TENSE VERB, PIRATE NAME #2 tried to VERB, and PIRATE NAME #3 threw a(n) NOUN out to try and tempt it back. Unfortunately, he lost his balance, fell and broke his NOUN. It was only when Captain Joe NAME OF A SONGBIRD PAST-TENSE VERB though, that the creature took notice. After hours of ADJECTIVE chasing, they finally retrieved their lost tool, and made ADJECTIVE repairs on their ship.
